

Distinctive Waterfront Lodging ...on Cape Cod

Why Anchor-in...

As the world emerges from Spring 2020's "Stay at Home" period, we each long to return to a sense of normal. After this uncertain period of sedentary isolation, this time more than any other, it's not just a vacation or a getaway, it's a special re-awakening. As you carefully choose this year's destination, Anchor-in is uniquely positioned for this time... and here are just a few reasons why:

Since 1955, Anchor In has been a destination of note on Cape Cod's picturesque Hyannis Harbor. Over three generations, what was once a charming family home grew into the intimate Boutique Hotel that we all know and love as Anchor-in. Because we are family owned and operated, we think of our guests as though they are family friends, and over the years, we're proud that so many have become just that. We welcome familiar faces back year after year, noting each season by who is in residence on any given day. This sense of welcome permeates through a staff that continues to be second to none, with all our team greeting generations of our guests with a collective 135 years of service between them and counting. It is this rare continuity that helps Anchor-in perpetuate its tradition of Superior Quality and Service while maintaining an intimacy often found only in properties much smaller than our 42 beautifully appointed guest rooms. We know our guests, look forward to their arrival, and strive to serve them as we would any special friend who came to visit, no matter their first or one of many.

Our location is a gift of foresight few envisioned in 1955, but one that continues to be one of our greatest assets. Since then, Hyannis' growth in importance to the greater Cape Cod region put Anchor-in at the forefront of the town's harbor and business districts. Our waterfront bustles with activity as summer's warmth draws people to its coast, but in all seasons, there is always something tranquil and calming about our one of a kind harbor-view. Surrounded by a multitude of boats large and small, there is always activity to observe, yet there remains a sense of peace and quiet. Being able to walk to Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard ferries, harbor cruises to the Kennedy Compound, waterfront restaurants and Hyannis' Historic Main Street while still being able to sit on your own deck and watch the sun rise or set over glistening water is what makes Anchor-in's location so unique and truly special.

As people in our communities find strength in one another during times of triumph and hardship, we find strength in the warmth and friendship of those we welcome to our door. We pride ourselves in providing a tradition of family hospitality to each of our guests as they arrive to engage or escape. No matter what brings you to our door, we are glad to provide each of you with a peaceful place to unwind.

We look forward to welcoming you to Anchor-in, Hyannis' Distinctive Waterfront Lodging destination, where we strive to make each visit a most Memorable one.

Sincerely

Lisa, Skip Simpson and the entire Anchor In crew.
